

Dear Bill,

1/14/94

I've run into a problem this morning, with much else on my mind. In getting an envelope of additions ready to mail to Gallen I can't find a copy of an important one I'm sure I sent him and to which I want to make an important addition. Dave and Jerry do not have your access to a copier, Dave not being in his office. I hope I sent you a copy and that you can find it without too much trouble and send me a copy. It was about the timing of Oswald's alleged flight from that sixth floor - on which he wasn't anyway.

It also went into the finding of the rifle.

It included lengthy excerpts from a Secret Service report on Pierce Allman.

And it had xeroxes of I think one picture of the rifle as found from a book by a man named Savage.

Whether or not Gallen uses these inserts, as I think he should, I do want to have a complete file of them for the historical record.

As you'll see from a yesterday's letter to him, I'm trying to reason with him on an approach I think is not in his mind, one I believe is important.

While I am troubled by what I believe is his thinking about an entirely different book and the long delays that are contrary to our agreement, there is nothing I can do about it, I regret.

Thanks,

Hand
